

Singapore Insights Delegation

4-8 September 2017

OFFICIAL PROGRAM

Welcome

Australia's bilateral relationship with Singapore is one of the closest and most comprehensive in Southeast Asia. Located in the heart of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), Singapore is a vital regional trading hub providing critical transport, financial, educational and medical services.

Singapore is home to the Asia-Pacific's second largest stock exchange and over 3,000 multinational corporations which contribute to a national GDP that exceeds AU$380 billion annually. The world's economic centre of gravity continues to shift towards Asia's emerging economies, spurred by favourable demographics, increasing urbanisation, maturing markets, the developing middle class and a rich supply of educated human capital.

The Singapore-Australia Free Trade Agreement (SAFTA) and subsequent Comprehensive Strategic Partnership (CSP) are the pillars upon which our two countries will strengthen economic, Defence, tourism, foreign affairs, innovation, community connectivity and ensure that Australia will remain a critical economy in the Asian Century.

North Queensland's relationship with Singapore extends far beyond the scope of the defined joint Defence training activities proposed under the CSP. Our region's agricultural, services, education and tourism trade with Singapore is expected to dramatically benefit from the progressive amendments introduced to the SAFTA in May 2016.

Townsville Enterprise is seeking to take advantage of our Nation's developing relationship with Singapore, providing North Queensland organisations with the necessary intelligence, support and insight required to assess opportunities supportive of their own business development ambitions. The Singapore Insights Delegation program has been formulated to ensure participants gain real value from their in-country experience, resulting in a comprehensive and informed market appraisal.

Concurrent Sessions

1:30pm–3:30pm

Agriculture

With one of the highest per capita GDP in the world, Singapore's per capita food consumption level is the highest in the region and relies on over 90% food imports to support its needs. Townsville is strategically positioned to deliver fresh and value-added food products to the Singapore market in a timely and cost-effective manner.

This session will explore opportunities for Australian growers to export niche products to the Singaporean market, and through Singapore to broader ASEAN markets.

Aquaculture

Northern Australia is the epicentre for some of Australia's biggest aquaculture industries which collectively account for approximately $300 million of aquaculture product annually. The North Queensland region with its unique partners and collaborators in industry, research and education, is well positioned to work with Singaporean interests around disease management, genetics, ornamentals, bioremediation, environmental and ecological sustainability innovation, skilled workforce development, achieving scale, and food safety.

Chair:

- Dean Jerry, Professor of Aquaculture, James Cook University

- Andrew Lawson, Managing Director, MBD Energy

Innovation, Emerging Industries & Health

Singapore consistently ranks as one of the world's most innovative nations. Over its 50-year history as an independent city-state, Singapore has earned a reputation as an innovation hub.

This session will provide insight to the support mechanisms and sector specific opportunities emerging across Singapore's innovation ecosystem.

As growing and aging populations across the world test the limits of their national healthcare systems, Singapore has become a poster child for operational functionality in the healthcare sector. A Bloomberg global study last year ranked Singapore number one in healthcare efficiency. A World Health Organisation study placed it sixth in healthcare outcomes, despite the fact that Singapore spends only 3% of its GDP on healthcare.

Chair:

- Professor Louis Schofield, Director Australian Institute of Tropical Health & Medicine, James Cook University

Contributors:

- Brendan Wright, Vice-President Public Sector Centre of Excellence, SAP Asia Pacific Japan
- Dr Zee Upton, Research Director, A*STAR Institute of Medical Biology (Singapore)

Tourism, Sport & Events

Tourism in Singapore is a major industry and Singaporeans are among the most frequent travellers in the world. As a crowded city state, there are few environments and recreational activities offered to Singaporeans to enjoy in their leisure time, therefore overseas travel is a popular option for the nation.

Information will be shared regarding the travel experiences Singaporean consumers are seeking from a Queensland holiday. Insights into methods of reaching this market will be revealed.

This session will provide insight into how to connect with Singaporean travel agents and wholesalers. Tourism products and trends that operators should consider promoting to Singapore will also be discussed.

Chair:

- Bridget Woods, Director – Tourism & Events, Townsville Enterprise Limited

Contributors:

- Brent Anderson, Marketing and Business Development, Tourism Australia – Singapore
- Khim Mui Lim, International Director – South and South East Asia, Tourism & Events Queensland
- Robin Yap, President – Asia, The Travel Corporation

Urban Renewal, Property & Investment

Singapore is both a city and a state, requiring effective governance and integrated long-term planning to strike a balance between economic, social and environmental sustainability.

Not unlike Singapore's experience, Townsville is now preparing to undertake an unprecedented urban renewal program of its own. Through the realisation of catalytic projects such as the North Queensland Integrated Stadium & Entertainment Centre, Waterfront Priority Development Area and the establishment of major cultural and community hubs across the CBD, Townsville will redefine its standing as the Capital of Northern Australia.

This industry session will seek to define critical learnings from Singapore's urban development program, while also highlighting investment and development opportunities associated with Townsville's city renewal activities.
